WHERE IS SHE!

The Daughter of a Wealthy Missouri Man is Seing Looked For

About a year ago two young ladies, daughters of one of the wealthiest and most respected citizens of Jasper county, Missouri, ran away from their home apparently preferring to see the world for themselves, and taste some of its forbidden fruit. The prominence of the family, their social rank, and the fact that the daughters had every comfort at home, caused the escapade to be widely heralded, and the search of friends finally was broken failed to appear and answer to plaintiff. county, Missouri, ran away from their by the revelation of the fact that both were in this city, but one of them, were in this city, but one of them, alas, had been taken ill and died. The heart-broken friends came here, and took back the living and the dead together. For some time they watched over the daughter who was left them, and tried to keep her within the sacred precincts of home life, but it was in vain. She was determined to gc, and lately succeeded in cluding the vigilance of friends, and again ran away. The friends have gained some traces by friends have gained some traces by which they have concluded that the girl must be somewhere in this city, and parties were here yesterday hunt ing for her. The search is made more difficult from the fact that she is under an assumed name, but it will be continued until her whereabouts are learned, without regard to time, trouble or expense.

The city council in its patching up of the license ordinance has raised the circus license to $150 and $25 additional for each sideshow. Before the raise Batcheller & Dorr's Inter-Ocean circus had written here, and finding the license to be $75 concluded to come here, and so arranged their route, their printing, etc., to appear here on the 17th of August. The ordinance has been so bunglingly worded that if a circus company shows here without getting a liense they are subject to a fine not less than the amount of the license required - $150, but the superior ourt cannot impose a fine higher than $100. With this state of affairs the circus could really show here and defy the council, as the court could impose no penalty. Z. T. Lindsey & Co., Council Bluffs, Ja .:

Dear Sirs:-Replying to your esteemed favor of the 5th inst, will say that it is a fact that the advance in the price of Calf Skins, Sole Leather, and most every kind of Shoe Stock, taken in connection with the adva co for labor we have been obliged to concede to workmen, has increased in no small degree the cost of manufacturing. Notwithstanding which fact we are pleased to say your order, given us early in the sesson, will be filled at t'e old prices: and we hope, by being diligently alive to the requirements of the demard for a really first-class article, to supply you with a BE TER line of goods than we have ever given you hereto'ore. Our purchase of both French and domestic talf Sk ns. as well as a large supply of O k-tanned Sole Leath r were made very early in the season which, being bought at former prices, relieves us in a great degree of the increased cost of production that many manufacturers are oblisted to sustain in filling their orders taken early. Your while order for the coming fall season is well in hand, and will be shipped at an early date. We desire to call the attention of those who use our goo s, through the mediam of your house, to our new styles in both Hand and Machine Sewed work. Our French, Medium French and Lordon Toe goods are all made on entirely new lasts and new patterns, which we feel sure will meet with a just appreciation and the approbation of your customers. With the improvement we have made we expect to furnish a more nearly pe feet fitting shoe than ever before. We assure you, gentlemen, that we will endeavor to give all your order our prompt and careful attention, and with these assurances we trust to merit the continuance of the many favors you have been pleased to bestow upon us, and, awaiting your further commands, we are
